

Module description

Academic Presentations

Engaging your audience effectively in English

Time:	Friday, 14.06. from 14:00 to 18:00 at HFT (face-to-face) Saturday, 15.06. from 10:00 to 17:00 at HFT (face-to-face) Friday, 21.06. from 14:00 to 18:00 at HFT (face-to-face) Friday, 28.06. from 14:00 to 18:00 at HFT (face-to-face)
Course Language:	All lectures and course materials are in English
Credits:	2 ECTS for exchange students
Lecturer:	Dr. Vinita Balasubramanian
Assessment	Presentation
Prerequisites:	English Level B2
Level:	Bachelor's and Master's level
Teaching Format:	Presence in online sessions + self-study in the form of preparing for practice presentations. (Information on the implementation, e.g. enrollment key Moodle course etc. will be provided to you approximately one week before the start of the course)

Description

Making effective presentations is an essential skill for all those in the academic field, both for examination contexts and for showcasing scholarly research for a wider audience. This course is designed to provide speakers of English as a foreign language with the skills necessary for impactful presentations in academic and professional settings. Through input, practical exercises, and collaborative feedback, participants will learn to shape and deliver presentations, refine their speaking skills, and build confidence.

The workshop will be held in English. A language level of at least B2 is required.

Objectives

Participants of the workshop will be able to:

- structure the flow of an academic presentation
- improve proficiency in the language skills needed
- review visual aids and non-verbal communication
- gain confidence and skill through practice sessions in a feedback loop

After successful participation you will receive a certificate of attendance.

This workshop may be graded! Please approach the instructor at the beginning of the workshop if you would like a grade.